The performance was good as many candidates scored good marks. The items that could be included in the engagement letter are inexhaustible.

SOLUTION 2

a. The three main types of audit in the public sector are:
   i. Regulatory Audit
   ii. Financial Audit
   iii. Value for money Audit

b. The main objectives of auditing the accounts of Ministries/Departments and Agencies are as follows:
   i. To ensure that proper accounting records are kept.
   ii. To ensure that all revenue and receipts for the period under review are duly accounted for.
   iii. To ensure that all expenditures meant for the programs for the period under review are applied in the most economic and efficient manner and in compliance to all laws and regulations that require such expenditures.
   iv. That the agency only carries out such activities authorised by the National Assembly.
   v. To ensure records are maintained to safeguard public fund and property.

viii. That the Ministry only carries out those functions, programs, activities and operations for which budgeting approval was given by the National Assembly.

ix. All revenues and receipts due to various funds are identified, collected and properly accounted for.

x. The internal control and accounts are adequate for safeguards of the enabling financial laws and regulations governing any receipts, custody and disbursements and use of funds.

EXAMINE’R COMMENTS
The performance was above average as many candidates scored more than 7 marks.

SOLUTION 3
a. Three items an Auditor’s working papers should provide in order to achieve the objective of forming an independent opinion on the client’s financial statement are as follows:

i. Information about the organisation being audited, including its recent history.

ii. Evidence of work done in the course of the audit

iii. A means of controlling the current year’s audit work and also a means of planning the subsequent year’s audit

iv. Schedules in support of the audited accounts and summaries of the client’s books.

b. Reasons for preparing audit working papers are:

i. To ensure that the audit work is conducted methodically and systematically. Without properly organised working papers, the auditor can rarely maintain a perfect grasp of the work he carries out. In which case, the audit cannot be carried out in an orderly manner.

ii. To provide continuity in the case of audit staff leaving midway through the audit engagement. Without working papers, it will not be possible to know which aspects of the work have been completed; hence the audit may have to be recommenced from the start.

iii. To enable an independent review of the audit work. The person who carries out the review of the audit work does not need to be present when the audit exercise is being carried out. With the relevant working papers, he can carry out an effective review of the audit work.

iv. To provide support for the audit opinion expressed. The opinion expressed by the auditor in his report is based on the work he carried out and this can only be meaningful if documented on working papers.

v. To confirm that all aspects of work have been completed. Working papers serve as effective checklist that all aspects of the work have been carried out.

vi. It may be used as evidence in the event of litigation against the Auditor. Working papers are valid documents which the auditor may need to present as evidence of the work carried out.

EXAMINER’S COMMENTS
Candidates’ performances were good. Though the question was trikish as some candidates just wrote the contents of audit working papers file instead of what the auditor’s working papers should provide to achieve the objective of forming an independent opinion on the clients’ financial statements.
SOLUTION TO QUESTION 4

a. The following are five matters of importance in the verification of assets:
   i. Cost of the asset
   ii. Authorisation for the purchase of the asset
   iii. Existence of the asset
   iv. Valuation of the asset
   v. Beneficial ownership of the asset
   vi. Presentation and disclosure of the asset in the financial statements.

Brief Explanations:

i. Cost of the asset:
   The auditor must ascertain what the client paid in acquiring or producing the asset. This must be supported by the suppliers’ invoice and receipts. The payment must be traced to the bank statement and cash book.

ii. Authorisation for the purchase of the asset:
   The authority to purchase the asset needs be confirmed by the auditor by checking payment vouchers or minutes of the board of directors’ meetings for approval.

iii. Existence of the asset:
   This involves carrying out physical inspection of where the assets are located so as to confirm their existence

iv. Valuation of the asset:
   This is the confirmation that the assets appear in the statement of financial position at a fair value
v. Beneficial ownership of the asset:
   This involves establishing title to confirm the ownership of the asset by checking title documents, payment receipts, certification of occupancy etc.

vi. Presentation and disclosure of the asset in the financial statement
   This is to ensure that the asset has been properly classified and presented in accordance with relevant accounting standards.

4b. Audit programme for the Verification of Investment
   i. Obtain or prepare analysis of investments and test clerical accuracy of the analysis
   ii. Obtain third party confirmation and or make physical inspection of securities listed on the analysis.
   iii. Test interest and dividend income received and accrued by reference to supporting documents
   iv. Check for additional acquisitions and redemptions during the year
   v. Review the treatment of capital distribution, bonus and right issue
   vi. Verify quoted prices for listed investments at statement of financial position date.
   vii. Determine whether unlisted investments at statement of financial position date are properly valued.
   viii. Check whether investments are properly described and classified as current assets or long term investments

4c. The two types of stocktaking include:
   i. Periodic stocktaking:
      This is a system where records of quantity and types of stock are updated periodically after physical count. Stocks are usually counted, and the objective is to count all items of stock on specific date.
ii. Continuous stocktaking:
This is a system of stocktaking where the stocks are checked systematically throughout the year. Under this system, up-to-date records are kept of quantity and types of items of stock received, issued and on hand. This system involves perpetual physical count.

EXAMINER’S COMMENTS
Verification of assets and stocktaking. Performance was average.

SOLUTION 5
a. Expectation Gap:
Some users of the audit reports incorrectly believe that an audit provides absolute assurance that the audit opinion is a guarantee that the financial statements are correct. This and other misconceptions about the role of auditors are referred to as the Expectation Gap.

b. Examples of expectation gap are:
i. A believe that auditors test all transactions and balances. Auditors test on a sample basis.
ii. A believe that auditors are required to detect all frauds. Auditors are required to provide reasonable assurance that the financial statements are free from material misstatements which may be caused by fraud.
iii. A believe that auditors are responsible for preparing the financial statements this is the responsibility of the management.

c. Limitations of audit are as follows:
i. Financial statements include subjective estimates and other judgemental matters.
ii. Internal controls which have their own inherent limitations may be relied on.

iii. Representation from management may have to be relied upon as the only source of evidence in some areas.

iv. Evidence is often persuasive, not conclusive

v. Auditors do not test all transactions and balances. They only test on sample basis.

d. Factors an Auditor should consider when determining the need to use the work of an expert in the course of his audit:

   i. The materiality of the items being examined in relation to the financial statements

   ii. The nature and complexity of items including the risk

   iii. Whether there are alternative sources of audit evidence

   iv. The cost and time involved in obtaining evidence from the expert against the benefit of obtaining evidence from this source.

   v. The reputation, qualification, competence and objectivity of the particular expert concerned.

EXAMINER'S COMMENTS

Expectation gap, limitations of an audit and the need for expert.

Performance was average, as more than 60% attempted the question.
SOLUTION 6

a. Three advantages of automated working papers are:
   i. The risk of error is reduced
   ii. The working papers will be neater and easier to review
   iii. The time saved will be substantial as adjustments can be made easily to all working papers, including working papers summarizing the key analytical information.
   iv. Standard forms do not have to be carried to audit locations. Forms can be designed to be called up and completed on the computer screen.
   v. Audit working papers can be transmitted for review via email, or other applicable electronic media.

b. Real-time System
   i. Real-time system refers to computer systems in which users have instant and direct access to data.
   ii. Real-time systems are further development of on-line systems and permit immediate updating of computer held files.
      The data input and file update phases are therefore merged and the system accepts individual transactions rather than batches of data.

c. Advantages of Test Data:
   i. Test data enables the auditor to test programmed controls which would not otherwise be able to be tested.
   ii. Once designed, cost incurred will be minimal unless the programmed controls are changed requiring the test to be redesigned.
   iii. Experiments and data manipulations can be carried out without fear of losing live data.
d. Disadvantages of Audit Software:

i. Audit software tends to work unsatisfactorily on the programs and files contained within Database Management Systems (DBMS)

ii. Rigidity: It does not allow for staff initiative

iii. Audit software specific to one client can be expensive to set up

iv. Training of audit staff will be required, thus incurring additional cost.

v. If errors are made in the design of the software, issues may go undetected by the auditor.

vi. Audit software may slow down or corrupt client’s system.

EXAMINER’S COMMENTS

This is the only question on ICT in audit environment. Few candidates attended the question and marks scored were low. Average mark was 6

EXAMINER’S COMMENTS

The 30 questions cover a large area of the syllabus and they were attempted by all candidates. Performance was above average though the expectation was that the section should be a mark-booster.

Candidates should in future understand that MCQs are not to be gamble as it taken deep knowledge to discover the correct one out of the seemingly similar options.

In the future, candidates should devote a large percentage of their study time on section A which actually covers 50% of total marks in the examination.

1. Depreciation = (900,000 × 10 Trucks) ÷ (12mths × 5yrs) = ₦150,000
2. Drivers Salary = ₦15,000 × 10 Trucks = ₦150,000
3. Truck Cleaners Salary = ₦10,000 × 5 Cleaners = ₦50,000
4. Diesel Consumption = (200km ÷ 3km) × 25days × 10 Trucks × ₦90 = ₦1,500,000
5. Repairs & Maintenance Cost = ₦180,000 ÷ 12mths = ₦15,000
6. Insurance = 2% × (₦900,000 × 10 Trucks) ÷ 12mths = ₦15,000
7. Mechanic Salary = ₦360,000 ÷ 12mths = ₦30,000
8. Total Kilometers per month = 200km × 25days × 10Trucks = 50,000km
9. Total Tonnes per month = 100Tonnes × 25days × 10 Trucks = 25,000Tonnes

Question 6

Solution

a. Obojoh Enterprise

Breakeven Analysis

I. Contribution margin ratio

Contribution = Fixed Cost + Profit

\[ = \text{₦750,000} + \text{₦500,000} \]

\[ \text{Contribution} = \text{₦1,250,000} \]

Contribution Margin Ratio (CMR) = \( \frac{\text{Contribution}}{\text{Sales}} \times 100 \)

\[ = \frac{\text{₦1,250,000}}{\text{₦2,000,000}} \times 100 \]

\[ = 0.625 \text{ or } 62.5\% \{\frac{1}{2}\} \]

Breakeven Point Sales = \( \frac{\text{Fixed Cost}}{\text{CMR}} \)

\[ = \frac{\text{₦750,000}}{0.625} \]

\[ = \text{₦1,200,000} \]

II. Margin of safety for the period ending 30th June 2019

\[ \text{Margin of Safety} = \text{Actual Sales} - \text{Breakeven Sales} \]

\[ = \text{₦2,000,000} - \text{₦1,200,000} \]

\[ = \text{₦800,000} \]

Alternative Solution
\[
\text{Margin of Safety} = \frac{\text{Profit}}{\text{CMR}} \\
= \frac{\text{N500, 000}}{0.625} \\
= \text{N800, 000}

III. Expected sales volume for second half of the year if selling price and fixed expenses remain unchanged in the second half of the year

\text{Contribution} = \text{Fixed Cost} - \text{Loss} \\
= \text{N750, 000} - \text{N100, 000} \\
\text{Contribution} = \text{N650, 000}

\text{Contribution Margin Ratio (CMR)} = \left( \frac{\text{Contribution}}{\text{Sale}} \right) \times 100 \\
= 0.625 \text{ or } 62.5\% \text{ as it was in the first half year}

\text{Sales} = \left( \frac{\text{Contribution}}{\text{CMR}} \right) \\
= \left( \frac{\text{N650, 000}}{0.625} \right) \\
= \text{N1, 040,000}

IV. The breakeven point and margin of safety for the year ended 31st December 2019.

\text{Contribution Margin Ratio will be the same because selling price not changed.}

\text{Therefore, CMR} = 62.5\%

\text{The fixed expense for the whole year is N1, 500,000 (i.e. N750, 000 for each half year)}

\text{Breakeven Point Sales} = \left( \frac{\text{Fixed Cost}}{\text{CMR}} \right) \\
= \left( \frac{\text{N1, 500,000}}{0.625} \right) \\
= \text{N2, 400,000}

\text{Margin of safety for the period year ended 31st December 2019} \\
= \left( \text{N2, 000,000} + \text{N1, 040,000} \right) - \text{N2, 400,000} \\
= \text{N640, 000}
b. Uses of Break-Even Analysis:
   I. It helps in the determination of selling price which will give the desired profits.
   i. It helps in the fixing of sales volume to cover a given return on capital employed.
   ii. It helps in forecasting costs and profit as a result of change in volume
   iii. It gives suggestions for shift in sales mix
   iv. It helps in making inter-firm comparison of profitability
   v. It helps in determination of costs and revenue at various levels of output vi. It is an aid in management decision-making (e.g. make or buy, introducing a product etc), forecasting, long-term planning and maintaining profitability.
   vii. It reveals business strength and profit earning capacity of a concern without much difficulty and effort

EXAMINER’S COMMENTS

This is a simple computation question. It tested the candidates’ understanding of the computation of the assessable profit based on the rules of change of accounting date. About 80 per cent of the candidates attempted the question.

The general performance was below average. The major pit fall was the inability to identify the correct basis period. The candidates should study more all aspects of computations of assessable profit, of companies.

a. The form of assessment available to companies are:
   i. Provisional assessment; where self assessment return is not filed. The provisional tax is due from corporate taxpayers within three months of each year of assessment. The amount of tax is the equivalent tax paid by the company in the immediate preceding year of assessment.
   ii. Government assessment; which include estimated assessment (that is, Best of Judgment assessment) and other assessment which the Revenue Authority may raise
   iii. The self-assessment of tax liability by the taxpayers themselves.

b. Time within which Tax is to be paid
   i. Provisional Tax: This must be paid before the end of March of any given year.
   ii. Assessed Tax: A company’s tax liability for the year is either conveyed through a Notice of Assessment in case of the government assessment system. The tax liability (after the payment of provisional tax, credit for withholding taxes and possible adjustment for overpayments) is payable within two months from the date on the notice. However, where the two months period expires before the 14th of December, such tax must be settled not later than that day.
iii. Disputed Assessment: An amount payable in connection with a determined formal objection or appeal must be settled within one month from the date on the Notice of Amended Assessment.

c. Penalty for late payment: Failure to comply with the time-table as regards the period within which tax is to be paid will attract a fine of 10% per annum of the tax plus interest thereon at prevailing commercial rate. The penalty is in addition to the tax in default.

EXAMINER’S COMMENTS

This is a theory question on types of assessment, time of tax payment and penalty for late payment. About 80 per cent of the candidates attempted the question.
