A pension is a fund into which sums of money are added during an employee’s employment or working years and from which payments are drawn to support the person’s retirement from work in the form of periodic payments.

In our lead article entitled “The Accounting for Retirement and Pension Plan”, the author explained the nitty-gritty of how to calculate and prepare pension account. He threw light on the three types of pension contribution available (Defined Benefit, Defined Contribution and Personal Pension) and how to calculate and prepare their accounts.

The Institute was 55 years old in September. We publish in this edition the details of how the Institute was established, the forbearers, international affiliations and achievements to date.

We also publish for your reading pleasure the story of election of the 56th President and other new officers that will run the affairs of the Institute for the next one year.

As usual, we publish some past questions and solutions to guide our students on how to tackle examination questions in future. The detailed reports of all these and other regular columns are contained in this edition.

The Institute has conducted the professional examinations that were suspended as a result of the Covid-19 pandemic. This shows the Institute is back on track and we implore those who have registered for the November diet to prepare for the examination.

He also has a PGCert in Teaching and Learning in Higher Education, UK. He is also a Fellow of Higher Education Academy, UK.

Dr Okwuosa is currently an Associate Professor of Accounting and Head of Department of Accounting, Finance & Taxation, Caleb University, Imota, Lagos, a position he has held since 2019.

Dr Okwuosa was first elected into the Governing Council of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Nigeria (ICAN) in 2011. He has served the Institute in various capacities including Chairman Examinations and Syllabus Review Committee among several others before his election as the 2nd Deputy Vice President.
He initiated the current Mutual Cooperation Agreement with Tertiary Institutions (MCATI) following the ICAEW model with selected UK universities. In addition, he co-ordinated and anchored the ICAEW-ICAN Pathway which enables ICAN members in good standing to apply and become members of ICAEW without writing any exams. This has enhanced the ICAN brand globally. He played a key role in the implementation of the on-screen marking of ICAN professional examination. This has resulted in quadrupling the viability of the professional examination for the Institute. Dr Okwuosa succeeded in enhancing ICAN Professional Examination Model from two-exams to three-exams model in a year, thereby increasing the chances of students qualifying faster given more chances to write same exam.

Dr. Innocent Okwuosa started his career at the then Nigerian Industrial Development Bank, now Bank of Industry and rose to become Senior Accountant and Head of Accounts and Management Information Unit within the Finance Division. He later trained with Horwarth Dafinone & Co (Chartered Accountants) where he acquired practical accountancy and audit experience. He was a co-founder of a leading professional accountancy tuition house, Safe Associates with responsibility for training staff of KPMG, PriceWaterhouse Coopers, Ernst and Young and Deloitte among others for their professional accountancy education. To this end, he distinguished himself lecturing Financial Accounting and Reporting. It was while lecturing in Safe Associates that he authored the popular Group Accounts and Advanced Financial Accounting Manual which was widely used by professional accountancy and tertiary institution students.

Before joining Henley Business School in 2016, as a Lecturer in Accounting after completing his PhD in that university, Dr Okwuosa was an Honorary Lecturer with University of Liverpool. He also worked as Finance Administrator with Australia Trade Commission, London.

As an expert in International Financial Reporting with Entop Consulting Ltd, Dr Okwuosa carried out IFRS implementation for many listed and private companies and delivered corporate training on IFRS.

He is a fellow of the Chartered Institute of Bankers of Nigeria and the pioneer Chairman Chartered Institute of Bankers, UK Branch. He has been a regular member of ICAN delegate to UNCTAD ISAR conferences.

Dr. Okwuosa sits on the board of African Integrated Reporting Council and is the Chairman of Nigerian Integrated Reporting Committee as well as a member of the Industry Working Group, Sustainability Accounting Standard Board (SASB), US. He is also a member of IFAC International Panel on Accounting Education (IPAE), New York. He was President of Matori Lions Club from 2004 to 2005.

He is happily married with children.

The Honorary Treasurer, Mr. Abiola Oluwatobi Ayodele HND, BSc, FCA, attended Federal Polytechnic Ilaro, Ogun State where he graduated in 1991, with a Higher National Diploma (HND) in Accountancy. He attended Babcock University, Ililshan, Ogun State where he bagged his Bachelor of Science B.Sc. (Hons.) in Accounting. He also holds a Diploma in Laws from the Executive Business School, Ikeja (2014).

He is at present a Deputy Director with the Federal Inland Revenue Service (FIRS) with responsibility as Head, Tax Investigation (Lagos).

Abiola was first elected into the Council of the Institute in 2017.

He has served the Institute in various Committees of Council.

He started his working career in the Firm of Mojibola Oluwa & Co (Chartered Accountants) in 1993 from where he joined the Federal Inland Revenue Service (FIRS) in 2005.

At the FIRS, prior to his position as the Head of Investigation (Lagos), he was Ag. Director (Technical). He has held the following positions: Head, Special Tax Audit; Chairman, Special Reconciliation and Review Committee (SRRC) with responsibility for the Southwest which include Lagos; FIRS representative on Micro, Small and Medium Enterprise (MSME), Office of the Vice President; Head, Domestic Tax Payers, Tax Investigation and Special Enforcement Division amongst others.

Abiola is also a Fellow of the Chartered Institute of Taxation of Nigeria (CITN).

He is currently the Lead Doyen of the Joint Minds Club International, a club breeding Chartered Accountants for over thirty years, formed at the Federal Polytechnic, Ilaro in June 1990.

Abiola believes in charity. He is a Paul Harris Fellow of the Rotary International, fighting polio in every part of the world. He loves reading, travelling, meeting people, watching sports such as football and lawn tennis.

He is happily married and blessed with children.
The Institute of Chartered Accountants of Nigeria (ICAN) has launched a new syllabus for its professional Examination. The new syllabus which takes effect from March 2021 was developed in line with the "Institute’s resolve to continue to produce future-ready Chartered Accountants with skills and competences desired by the market.

The ICAN President Dame Onome Joy Adewuyi FCA who unveiled the new syllabus said the revised syllabus captured subjects on emerging technologies that are disrupting the accounting profession, such as Block Chain Technology, Artificial Intelligence, Machine Learning and Internet of Things", among others. She explained further that new trends in the Nigerian environment such as the Finance Act 2019 which introduced new developments in the country’s tax system and the new Companies and Allied Matters Act (CAMA 2020) also presented added impetus for the review.

According to her, “a Chartered Accountant worth its salt is not just an expert in the technical aspect of the profession but should be furnished with soft skills including effective communication, integrity, accuracy and good professional judgment”. She added that the current syllabus was reviewed in 2018 but the rapidly changing environment necessitated a revisit of the status quo from the five-year policy of the syllabus review to a more regular one that proactively responds to the demands of the market.

The review also necessitated the restructuring the various levels of the Institute’s examinations to reflect the new changes in the syllabus and equally expanded the contents of the various subjects against the backdrop of the new normal. While retaining the fifteen (15) subjects, there are now four (4) subjects at the Foundation level as against the former five (5), six (6) at Skills as against five (5) and retained the five (5) subjects at the Professional level.

Meanwhile the Institute has signed the Mutual Cooperation Agreement (MCATI) with two tertiary institutions to deepen the standards of learning and dissemination of Accounting knowledge in Nigeria. The Institutions are: Adeleke University Ede, OsunState and the Federal Polytechnic, Nekede, Owerri, Imo State thus bringing the number of Institutions under the scheme to 23. All the 23 institutions are obligated to incorporate the requirements of the new syllabus in their curriculum.

The agreement meant that accounting students in the two institutions, and the 21 before them, would study using the integrated accounting curriculum of ICAN, National Universities Commission (NUC) and National Board for Technical Education (NBTE).

Accounting graduates from the Institutions would be granted 10 subject exemptions instead of seven subjects under the normal ICAN accreditation scheme.
The Doyen of Accountancy in Nigeria, Mr. Akintola Williams, CFR, B.Com, FCA, is a great man of vision. Having passed the December 1949 final examination of the Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales (ICAEW), he was admitted an Associate of the Institute in 1950. He was the first Nigerian (and one of the first Africans) to qualify as a Chartered Accountant. This feat has inspired and spurred some other young Nigerians to take up accountancy as a career as against Law and Medicine that were in vogue then.

When Akintola Williams qualified in 1949 and became an Associate of ICAEW in 1950, other young Nigerians who also qualified were: Mr. F.C. Oladipo Coker, who qualified as the first Nigerian Municipal Treasurer and Accountant in 1954; Messrs Zaccheaus Oosanya and Bankole Cardoso, both of whom qualified as Certified Accountants in 1954 and Messrs Adekunle Osindero and Abiodun Subair who qualified as a Chartered Accountant and Incorporated Accountant respectively in 1955.

What then led to the birth of ICAN? In 1959, a cocktail party was organized by Mr. Coker in honour of Mr. Herbert Keeling, a visiting Borough Treasurer of Worthing, England. Keeling who had come to Nigeria as part of a delegation of British Council on assignment and his desire to meet with any Nigerian counterpart led to his being introduced to Mr. Coker. This in turn engendered the epoch-making cocktail which provided the avenue for the meeting of professionals.

At the cocktail, an idea was mooted by Keeling which led to the establishment of the forerunner Association of Accountants in Nigeria (AAN). Keeling was reputed to have suggested: “Mr. Coker, there are 25 of you. Why can’t you start an Association of Accountants? You never know it may one day develop into an Institute”. Thus, history was made with the incorporation of AAN on November 17, 1960 under the Companies Ordinance Cap. 38, later known as Companies Act, 1968.

The first officers of the Association elected were: Mr. Akintola Williams – President; Mr. F.C.O. Coker – Vice President; and two expatriate partners of the pioneer firm of accountants, Cassleton Elliot and Co., Messrs D.A. Easton and L.C. Parker, who were elected Secretary/Treasurer and Honorary Auditor respectively. By December 1960, the membership of the Association was about fifty qualified accountants including Nigerians and expatriates.

The Association of Accountants worked meticulously to obtain recognition and this was achieved when “The Institute of Chartered Accountants of Nigeria (ICAN) was established by an Act of Parliament No. 15 of 1965 to take over the membership and activities of the Association with effect from 1st September 1965. The Charter was formally presented to the then President of the Institute, Mr. F.C.O. Coker, by the then Minister of Education, Chief Richard Akinjide, at the inaugural meeting of the Institute held in the Chamber of the Senate House in Lagos on 21st October, 1965.

To say that this is a momentous time for accounting profession as the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Nigeria (ICAN) clocks 55 years, is an understatement. The Institute is celebrating its 55th Anniversary of receiving its Charter.

Having being established, the Institute was saddled with the responsibility of setting standards and regulates the practice of accountancy in Nigeria. Ever since, the Institute has been living up to the expectations and has continued to contribute immensely to capacity building, public sector policy initiatives, development of standards, code of best practices and the promotion of the ideals of corporate governance.

The Institute through its various organs and Council’s proactive policy initiatives, has brought the knowledge of accounting to every nooks and crannies of the country and beyond and has recorded resounding success in its statutory role in public sector governance, astronomical growth in membership and studentship, number of District Societies, scholarship in accounting research projects, international ranking and worldwide acceptability of its products.

As drivers of positive change and partners in progress in the public and private sectors, the Institute and its over 51,000 members have continued to positively impact the process of value and wealth creation in the world of commerce and governance. Its time-tested, rancour-free succession processes further exemplify
A pension is a fund into which sums of money are added during an employee's employment or working years and from which payments are drawn to support the person’s retirement from work in the form of periodic payments.

We often hold erroneous believe, that our children will care for us when we are old, this believe is gradually disappearing and it is becoming more important to make arrangements for one’s care following retirement at old age.

There are three types of pension contribution: Defined Benefit, Defined Contribution and Personal Pension.

Defined Benefit Pension Plan (Final Salary Scheme)

Sometimes referred to as Career Average Revalued Earnings (CARE), is largely funded by employers, though employees may also make contributions into it. On retirement, the fund is guaranteed to provide a percentage of the employee’s final pre-retirement salary as an annual income.

The applicable percentage depends on the employee’s length of service and the “accrual rate” of contribution set by the employer as a fraction of the final salary on leaving the employment.

The normal rate is 1/60th, that means pension will be based on the 1/60th of the final salary for each year of that employment. For example, 30 years in employment will entitle a pension of 30/60th or half the final salary on retirement.

It is important to note that if you are a member of a defined benefit scheme, you are not responsible for the investment decisions. Your scheme promises your retirement income, so it is pension fund manager who takes the investment decisions and risks needed to reach that target. This type of pension provision is common with employees of Central and Local Governments, Teachers and National Health Service (NHS) employees (in the UK).

Defined Contribution Plan

This is sometimes known as ‘money purchase’ pension plan. It could be a personal pension arrangement or a workplace pension arranged by an employer.

The money paid in by the employee and/or the employer is normally invested by the pension provider. The amount the pension pot can provide in retirement depends on how much was paid in and how well the investments have done.

Most defined contribution pension plans offer a range of investment funds that are designed to achieve investment earnings that will enhance future retirement benefits. There are funds that offer broad investment strategy which are managed by fund investment experts.

Investment funds usually invest in several key asset categories which includes: shares, bonds and cash. Examples of such assets are:

- Funds with specialty in specific assets e.g. a fund focusing on shares in European companies

- Investment in a mix of different assets e.g. a fund investing in both global shares and government bonds, because it is a risk management strategy to manage the investment risk through investment diversification.

Lifestyle funds

Over the long term, shares have tended to perform better than bonds or cash, which are lower-risk investments. Many pension plans offer a ‘lifestyle’ fund, which automatically shifts the balance of investments towards less risky assets (such as bonds and cash) as retirement approaches. This shift will be handled by the funds’ investment experts. ‘Target date’ funds work in a similar way.

Self-investment

If you have a large pension pot, you can take greater control of your pension and access a wider range of assets by using a SIPP (self-invested personal pension). This is only suitable for experienced investors who are comfortable with taking investment decisions.
Personal Pension

Personal pensions are designed to allow anyone who is not a member of an occupational pension scheme to make provision for a pension in retirement. A last survivor death benefit is ideal to make provision for the needs of the children in the event of the simultaneous death of the two parents.

Other Investment options

Provision for retirement is not only limited to pension contributions, other investment types can serve as provision to support life during the retirement period. This includes investments in:

1. Land and Properties
2. Stocks and Shares

Accounting for Pension costs in the financial statements.

IAS 37 Provisions, Contingent Liabilities and Contingent Assets outlines the accounting for provisions (liabilities of uncertain timing or amount), together with contingent assets (possible assets) and contingent liabilities (possible obligations and present obligations that are not probable or not reliably measurable). The accounting treatment for Define Benefit Pension Plan.

IAS 19

AS 19 Employee Benefits (amended 2011) outlines the accounting requirements for employee benefits, including short-term benefits (e.g. wages and salaries, annual leave), post-employment benefits such as retirement benefits, other long-term benefits (e.g. long service leave) and termination benefits.

The standard establishes the principle that the cost of providing employee benefits should be recognised in the period in which the benefit is earned by the employee, rather than when it is paid or payable, and outlines how each category of employee benefits are measured, providing detailed guidance in particular about post-employment benefits.

In addition to salaries, many companies offer other benefits to their employees such as pension plans, health insurance, stock option benefits, fitness memberships, or life insurance plans.

Provisions are measured at the best estimate (including risks and uncertainties) of the expenditure required to settle the present obligation, and reflects the present value of expenditures required to settle the obligation where the time value of money is material.

For regular benefits, the accounting is relatively simple – the employer records an expense for the amount of the benefits employees earn in a year.

However, the accounting treatment becomes more complicated when employees earn the rights to the benefits now but receive those benefits later in the future. A clear example of such a benefit is the pension. This is best illustrated below:

![Diagram showing employer and employee relationship with pension trust]

Relationship 1: Employees provide services to the employer and in return, they receive wages.

Relationship 2: Employers make contributions to the pension trust.

Relationship 3: Funds are used from the pension trust to pay the employee in the future and sometimes, employees can also make contributions to the trust.

Defined Contribution and Defined Benefit Pension Plans.

Below is a tabular comparison between the two:

Defined benefits plan

Under the defined benefits plan, the employee is guaranteed a certain amount of benefits/payments in the future. Because pension payments are usually made much later in the future, there is a clear time difference between when employees receive the future payments and when employees actually earn those benefits.

To accurately recognise the liability of the future pension payments, companies must use the accrual basis of accounting instead of when cash changes hand.

The pensions accounting treatment for defined benefit plans requires:

1. To determine the fair value of the assets and liabilities of the pension plan at the end of the year
2. To determine the amount of pension expense for the year to be reported on the income statement
3. The net asset or liability position of the pension plan on a fair value basis

Pension expense is an expected value and when the actual value of the pension differs, those variations are recorded through other comprehensive income (OCI) under IFRS.

Pension accounting example

XYZ Company has a defined benefit pension plan. At the end of 2017, the fair value of the assets and liabilities in the pension amounted to £6 million. In 2018, the pension expense was £10 million and the company contributed £5 million to the pension plan. At the end of 2018, the fair value of the pension assets and liabilities was at £10 million. Let’s see how the pension accounting works.

To record company contribution to pension

| DR Defined Benefit Pension Liability: | 5,000,000 |
| CR Cash: | 5,000,000 |

To record pension expense

| DR pension expense: | 10,000,000 |
| CR Defined Benefit Pension Liability: | 10,000,000 |

To adjust pension liability to fair value

| DR Other comprehensive income (OCI): | 1,000,000 |
| CR Net defined benefit liability: | 1,000,000 |
Determining pension expense in pension accounting
There are four important components that must be considered when determining pension expense:

- Current Service Cost: The increase in the present value of the pension obligation that results from the employees’ current services.

- Past Service Cost: These costs arise from plan initiations, plan amendments, and reductions in the number of employees under pension plans.

- Interest Cost: The increase in the overall pension obligation due to the passage of time.

- Expected Income from Plan Assets: Income expected from assets in the pension plan, including investment income from interest, dividends, and capital gains.

Accounting for other benefits
In addition to pension accounting, companies may provide other benefits that are treated similarly to pensions from an accounting perspective.

For example, some companies continue to pay for medical services used by former employees who have retired.

Similar to pension benefits, companies will accrue an expense for benefits earned by employees in that year and create a liability provision for those benefits that are to be provided in the future.

Although the general idea may seem straightforward, there are several other factors that must be considered.

For example, dissimilar to pension payments, the costs of healthcare services may change drastically over time and the use of these services is irregular compared to annuity payments like pensions.

Therefore, when accounting for other employee-related benefits, some may require proper professional and subjective judgment depending on the situation.

Uphold the Ethics of Accountancy Profession, ICAN Tells AAT Inductees

The newly inducted members of Association of Accounting Technicians West Africa (AATWA) have been advised to always uphold the ethics of the accounting profession by shunning all corrupt tendencies in the course of performing their duties as accountants.

The 56th President of the Institute, Dame Onome Joy Adewuyi, handed down the warning in her speech at the 52nd AATWA induction ceremony held via webinar in Lagos on Tuesday, July 14, 2020.

She also advised the new inductees to conduct themselves in a manner that would enhance the image of the Institute as they prepare and equip themselves for the future. “As you are all aware, Covid-19 has amplified the change in the way of doing things globally. So, you must not lag behind as accountants. You have to prepare and equip yourself for the future. Don’t just be a dreamer, pursue your dreams. Be driven by the ambition to be better than what you were yesterday and always associate yourself with people of like minds”, she said.

According to her, the AATWA scheme which started about 31 years ago, has produced 25,754 members with the current 385 members added to it.

In her keynote address, the Special Guest of Honour who is a Past President of the Institute, Chief (Mrs.) Elizabeth Adegite posited that the inductees have special role to play with their current qualification as middle-class accountants who would be assisting professional accountants, auditors and related practitioners.

“Always keep yourselves abreast of developments especially technologically and ensure that you play your roles professionally to prevent corruption. You need to make use of available opportunities to defend your certificate and promote your Institute,” she admonished.

Earlier in her welcome address, the Chairman of AATWA Committee, Mrs Comfort Olu Ebitayo congratulated the inductees and their parents for the great achievement. She disclosed that it was the Covid-19 pandemic ravaging the world that made the induction to be conducted virtually.

Going memory lane, she disclosed that the AATWA scheme commenced in 1989 to produce middle-level personnel in accounting to support professional accountants and auditors and related professions.

While disclosing that membership of AAT is compulsory for all inductees, she enumerated the benefits of being a member as employment opportunities, early to qualify professionally, access to ICAN e-library, attendance at ICAN activities etc.

Our goal is to ensure success in ICAN exams. We have, therefore, provided solutions to some past questions to guide candidates in future exams. Although these suggested solutions have been published under the Institute’s name, they do not represent the views of the Council of the Institute. ICAN will, therefore, not enter into any correspondence about them.

EXAMINER’S REPORT

• The questions covered the entire areas of the syllabus.
• More than 95% of the candidates attempted the question and performance was above average.
• The commonest pitfall was the inability of candidates to correctly answer questions relating to correction of errors.
• Candidates require good understanding of the double entry principle for better performance in future examinations.

SECTION B

SOLUTION 1

a. TRIAL BALANCE

A trial balance is a list of all the debit balances and credit balances on the general ledger accounts. If the double entry principles have been applied correctly to all the items in the general ledger, then total of the entries on the debit side should agree with the total on the credit side.

A trial balance is used to check the arithmetical accuracy of the accounting system. It also serves as a first step in the preparation of the financial statements.

S/N ERRORS THAT DO NOT AFFECT TRIAL BALANCE

i. Error of commission
ii. Error of principle
iii. Error of original entry
iv. Compensating error
v. Error of omission
vi. Complete reversal of Entries

EXAMINER’S REPORT

The question tests candidates” understanding of the meaning of the trial balance, nature of trial balance errors and the extraction of trial balance.

More than 95% of the candidates attempted the question and performance was excellent.

Few candidates use the T-format to prepare the trial balance. Candidates should always remember that financial statements have five elements with asset and expenses being on the debit side while income, equity and liabilities are on the credit side.

Requirements of IAS 16 on subsequent expenditure and subsequent measurement

- Subsequent expenditure on PPE should usually be written off to profit or loss as incurred but subsequent expenditure can only be capitalised if it enhances the economic benefits to be derived from the asset.

- After initial recognition, PPE should be measured at cost or revalued amount less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses.

EXAMINER’S REPORT

- The question tests candidates’ understanding of the nature of capital and revenue expenditure, measurement of PPE and accounting entries for PPE under IAS 16.

- The question was poorly attempted and the candidates’ overall performance was below average.

- The candidates exhibited lack of knowledge of the requirements of IAS16 on initial recognition and subsequent measurement of PPE. More than 90% of the candidates could not differentiate between capital and revenue expenditure.

The candidates should be encouraged to have extensive study of past questions and good understanding of the relevant accounting standards.

SOLUTION 2

Property, Plant and Equipment (PPE)

a. Requirements of IAS 16 on initial recognition of Property, Plant and Equipment

- IAS 16 requires that Property, plant and equipment should be initially measured at cost. Cost of PPE consists of the following.
  - The purchase price, excluding trade discount but plus any import taxes or non-refundable sales taxes; Plus
  - Directly attributable cost in bringing the asset to its present location and condition, by management, for its intended use. Estimated cost of removing and dismantling the assets and restoring the site.

Requirements of IAS 16 on subsequent expenditure and subsequent measurement

- Subsequent expenditure on PPE should usually be written off to profit or loss as incurred but subsequent expenditure can only be capitalised if it enhances the economic benefits to be derived from the asset.

Classification of cost into capital and revenue expenditure

SOLUTION 3

(a) The issues involved in this case are whether or not a company director is entitled to remuneration and whether or not a director is entitled to be reimbursed for expenses incurred in respect of the company’s operations.

(b) On the issue of directors’ remuneration, the position of the law is that a company is not bound to pay remuneration to its directors, except it is contained in the company’s Articles of Association or there is a written agreement to that effect. Conversely, the position of the law on reimbursement of directors’ expenses is that, a company shall reimburse its directors, all travelling and other expenses related to attending and returning from company meetings.

In this case, YEBA Ltd is not liable to pay remuneration to Bala, as directors’ remuneration is not contained in the Articles of Association and, there was no written agreement on payment of remuneration to its directors.

(b) Factors that influence individual ethical behavior in business environment include the following:

i. Individual family influence and background at early age;

ii. Educational attainment and academic exposure of the individual;

iii. Religious inclination of the individual;

iv. Professional affiliation of the individual;

v. Cultural and ethnic consideration of the individual;

vi. Existence of laws that define and regulate societal behaviour;

vii. Peer influences of colleagues and associates;

viii. The existence of clear procedures for punishment for breach of ethical rule.
(c) The legal issues involved relate to frustration of contract and principle of part-performance, also referred to as quantum meruit in law of contract.

Frustration arises when unforeseen circumstances or events, which are beyond the control of the parties, happen, and make it impossible for the parties to perform their contractual obligations under the contract.

Part-performance or quantum meruit is a remedy available to a party who has partly performed his obligation under the contract, to claim the cost he has suffered.

In this case, the contract for furnishing and painting of Chief WADADA’s building by Exclusive Décor Enterprises was frustrated by rain floods, which made it impossible to execute the contract. The contract was thus discharged and both parties are absolved from liability. Exclusive Décor Enterprises cannot succeed in suit to claim the contract sum from Chief WADADA.

However, under the principle of quantum meruit, Exclusive Décor Enterprises, who had incurred costs in delivery of materials to site, all of which were destroyed by rain floods, may succeed to claim the loss suffered on the materials.

EXAMINER’S REPORT

The question tests candidates’ knowledge of director’s remuneration and expenses reimbursement, business ethics and part-performance principle (Quantum meruit) under frustration of contract.

Attempt rate was about 65% and general performance was average at about 50% pass rate.

Candidates’ major pitfalls were lack of understanding of quantum meruit principle and rules of business ethics.

Candidates are advised to read the ICAN study text properly.

SOLUTION 4

(a) The conditions under which an insolvent company may be placed under receivership are as follows:

i. When a company is unable to repay loans borrowed when due or the interest payable falls into arrears;

ii. If the property or assets of the insolvent company is in jeopardy, or when events occur to reasonably conclude that the debenture holders’ interests are under threat;

iii. When the company fails to honour or defaults to fulfill any of its obligations imposed on it by the debenture trust deed;

iv. If any circumstance occurs which prevents the terms of the debenture from realising its assigned or pledged security;

v. If the company is being wound-up as a result of insolvency;

vi. If any creditor of the company issues a process of execution against any of the company’s assets;

vii. If the company ceases to carry on business; and viii. If secured creditors with amounts that exceed specified amount apply to court for receivership.

(b) Under the Criminal Code, the broad classifications of gratification are as follows:

i. Demand or offer and receipt of things of monetary values.

These include cash gifts, donations of assets, loans, financial rewards, value securities and stocks, discounts, commission, rebates, deductions, contracts for supply of goods and services, discharge or liquidation of any loan, financial obligation or liability whether in whole or in part, property or interest in property, whether movable or immovable, any forbearance to demand any money; all with the aim of inducing performance or non-performance of a public official’s normal duties.

ii. Demand or offer and receipt of things of intangible values

These include any offer of employment, grant of public privileges, sexual gratification, award of chieftaincy titles or dignity, benefits in kind, protection from legal proceedings and prosecution, either civil or criminal, etc; all these acts are usually made to induce performance or non-performance of public officials’ normal duties.

(c) Agency contract may be terminated by operation of the law under the following circumstances:

i. Death of either party;

ii. Insanity of either party;

iii. Bankruptcy of the principal;

iv. Frustration of the subject-matter;

v. Subject-matter is illegal ab initio.
vi. Subject-matter no longer exists;
vii. Expiration or effluxion of time;
viii. Subsequent legal incapacity of either party; and
 ix. Completion of the work.

(d) The following are essential factors necessary to claim contribution by an insurance company:

i. The subject-matter of the insurance must be the same and common to both the insurer and the assured. It is sufficient if the insured entered into double or multiple insurance and the loss is covered by both insurance policies;

ii. The interest insured must be the same, although both or any of the insurance policies may include other interests, but the loss must be caused by a peril common to both insurance policies;

iii. The same assured must be covered by both insurance policies and which must have been effected by the same assured or by any other person acting for him or on his behalf; and

iv. Both insurance policies must be legally enforceable at the date of the peril or loss. Thus, an expired or invalid insurance policy at the time of the peril will not qualify for contribution.
